We want to believe that in their refusal to permit high school boys and girls the use of the new grammar school auditorium as a gymnasium, the board of trustees of the grammar school were acting only in self-protection and did not take the negative action for any other reason. During the long winter months, when out-of-door recreation, with the exception of winter sports, is impossible, the young men and women of the high school have no place available to expel that natural excess energy and we want to think that the grammar school board appreciates this fact as fully as anyone and that aside from the personal obligation, which they perhaps rightly assume in connection with the new auditorium, they have no objection to its usage. The building was placed in their trust and while the high school board offered to assume any responsibility for damage caused by the high school students during recreational activities, they no doubt felt that without the sanction of the electors they are still personally liable. It now remains, if the older children are to obtain the use of the hall for the electors to assume that responsibility and authorize the board to permit its use under supervision of responsible sponsors, relieving these trustees of their moral obligation.

Through their executive officer, Mr. Herbert C. Davis, the state division of fish and game last week refused to heed the plea of the local chamber of commerce that a full-time warden be employed in this area to protect the diminishing supply of trout. That refusal, in our opinion, was a vital blow to the hopes of the local sportsmen, familiar with the conditions existing along the Truckee River and other streams in this vicinity. The sale of fishing licenses alone last season perhaps amounted to between $3000 and$4000. This does not include perhaps even a greater sum derived from other centers from fishermen who had no other desire than to fish along the Truckee River. It does seem that we then are entitled to a portion of that sum for the protection of the fish supply. Throughout the state it is known that trout fishing is on the decline and while Truckee still remains the mecca for anglers, this condition cannot long survive unless the supply of fish is given protection. Merchants, sportsmen and others interested in the development and conservation of trout should assist the chamber of commerce in its appeal for the vitally needed protection.

Without doubt, you are beginning to puzzle over your annual Christmas list. What to give this or that member of the family or friend is a yearly question of those who follow the old familiar tradition of Christmas. In pondering that list this year why not confine your purchases to Truckee? You who have done so in the past have found that it is easier and equally as economical to shop here as elsewhere and those of you who haven't (and we suspect there must be at least a few) will be surprised at the fine selection of gifts at moderate prices available in your local stores. And there is a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that by trading here you are helping yourself to a bigger and better Christmas by helping your neighbor.

Word comes from Tahoe that a few thoughtless or inhumane summer residents of that select vacationland have the habit of taking dogs and cats as pets during their stay at the lake and then in the fall when they depart leave the luckless animals to shift for themselves. The poor animals, mystified at their plight, die of starvation and privation. A few are sheltered by kindly Tahoe residents, but for the benefit of those who desert the pets, let it be known that life at the lake in the winter is far different than during the pleasant summer days and the thought of this fact should include those unfortunate dumb animals.

SIERRA PACIFIC TO SEEK USE OF LAKE WATER IN PETITION

George DeVore has obtained blank applications from the office of Everett N. Bryan, supervising hydraulic engineer of the state water resources division, for the use of the water from Lake Independence, Nevada county, by the Sierra Pacific Power Company, according to a statement from Bryan's office at Sacramento.

After the blanks have been filled in and filed with his office, the applications for the use of the water will be advertised for 60 days and if no objections are received the permits will be granted, Bryan said

FISH COMMISION REFUSES MORE AID ON TRUCKEE RIVER

Claims River Here Already Protected Against Violators

SUGGESTS DEPUTIES

Fails To Tell Why Only Two Arrests Were Made In Entire Season

The plea of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce that more adequate protection be given the Truckee river against the violators of the fish and game laws met with little encouragement from state fish and game commission.

In replying to a recent letter sent by the chamber of commerce, urging that steps be taken to prevent the continued violations which threaten the life of fishing as one of Truckee's principal resources, Herbert C. Davis, executive officer of the commission, refused to give the matter more than passing comment.

"It is not possible," Davis wrote, "for us with the size of patrol we maintain to have more than one resident officer in a county."

He did not explain how he expected that one resident officer to keep a vigilant eye on all parts of this county, where streams and lakes are scattered over a huge area, all the time. In many counties only one or two streams or lakes are worth while protecting, but in Nevada county, Warden Earl Hiscox, one of the most efficient officers in the state, has mile upon mile of streams and lakes which fall under his jurisdiction.

"I might also suggest," the game executive said, "that the deputy sheriffs and constables who are resident in your area have full authority to enforce the fish and game laws of the state and your chamber of commerce might prevail upon these resident officers to assist you in your desire to protect the recreational value of the Truckee river."

Mr. Davis does not say why "your desire" to protect the recreational value of the Truckee river should be greater than that of the state fish and game commission, but the implication is there.

"We recognize the problem on the Truckee River with respect to law violations." the official wrote. "However, I think that this area has received more attention from the patrol than you perhaps are aware.

"Theer are two extra officers working the eastern end of Eldorado, Placer and Nevada counties throughout the season. Also, a good portion of the time these officers were working in plain clothes and probably were not noticed by the residents."

The letter does not say whether the special plain-clothes men also went unnoticed by the violators of the fish laws, but one fact stands out clearly—only two violators of the fish laws were hailed before Justice of the Peace C. E. Smith during the season. These two were arrested by Warden Hiscox. There were thousands fishing in the area during and after and before the season opened.

TRUCKEE MAN TO RECOVER AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

Bill Bailey of Truckee is recovering from severe bruises and lacerations of the head and scalp suffered in an automobile accident which occurred near Penryn recently.

Bailey's car wheels struck loose gravel at the side of the road and the machine overturned. He was taken to the Auburn hospital for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Zoebel are the proud parents of a nine-pound girl born shortly after noon Wednesday in a Reno hospital. Mrs. Edith Fay, grandmother on the new arrival, accompanied her daughter to the hospital. Both the mother and daughter are reported to be doing well.

Auditorium For High School Use Denied By Board

Further Steps To Be Taken To Provide Recreation Center Here

Efforts by the trustees of the Meadow Lake Union High School to procure the auditorium of the new grammar school as an indoor recreational center for the boys and girls of the high school were at least temporarily terminated Friday at a joint meeting of the high school and grammar school boards of trustees when the latter voted unanimously to refuse the request.

It is the desire of the high school board, Parent Teachers association and others to equip the auditorium with suitable equipment for basket ball games and other indoor athletic pursuits.

The cost of any alterations or the repair of any possible damage which might result would be paid by the high school together with costs of lighting or heating, if required, the high school board agreed.

Members of the grammar school board, however, held that they did not wish to be responsible for any damage to the new building, but said that if some way could be found to secure the use of the building without the board's permission, they would no longer object.

A provision of the state school code provides that the school may be used as a civic center for the purpose, among other things, of recreational pursuits.

Under the present setup, the boys and girls of the high school are without a place to hold games and it was felt that permission to use the auditorium at times to be specified by the controlling board, with proper supervision, a greater interest for the students could be aroused and by scheduling games with outside towns, a spirit created which is now noticably lacking.

The trustees of the grammar school have agreed that for parties, games, dances and other social affairs, the high school students are welcome to the use of the auditorium. They however, declined to permit any sports, such as basketball to be played there.

TAHOE STUDENTS ARE FETED AT PARTY BY LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

The students of the Meadow Lake Union High School gave a party for students of the Tahoe High School here last Friday evening. The faculty of the local school chaperoned the affair and a good time was reported by those attending.

Dancing was the main entertainment of the evening, music being furnished by the Zenith combination radio and phonoghaph furnished by Chester Elliott of the C and E.

Refreshments were served to the group at a late hour.

The use of the grammar school auditorium was given over for the occasion. About 40 high school students, including 15 from the lake attended.

The party was given in commemoration of Truckee's victory in the series of football games played between the two schools. A few weeks ago a similar celebration was given by the Tahoe young people.

PERMISSION GAINED TO ABANDON HOBART SOUTHERN RAILROAD

Permission to abandon the 6.4-mile line between Hobart Mills and Truckee was granted the Hobart Southern Railroad by the Railroad commission last week, according to word from San Francisco.

The company claimed the principal source of income was from the lumber mills at Hobart Mills which recently closed and asked for the abandonment order on the ground that the railroad can no longer be operated in a profitable manner.

BIG GAME SATURDAY

A number of Truckee Football fans are planning to go to Palo Alto on Saturday to witness the annual classic between California and Stanford to be played there.

NEW HIGHWAY TO STATE LINE MAY BE BUILT SOON

$300,000 Project Bids May Be Called Within Four Weeks

The United Press at Sacramento today advised the Sierra Sun that although the state division of highways plans to call for bids within the next four weeks for the realignment and surfacing of Highway 40 from Hirshdale to the Nevada state line, nothing is contemplated at the present in regard to the highway from Donner Lake to Hirshdale.

Plans for the improvement from Hirshdale to the state line are being prepared by District Engineer C. H Whitmore at Marysville, according to the United Press.

This project, part of a general program to repair and realign route 40, according to the message and will cost approximately $300,000.

Rumors current this week were to the effect that the proposed project would include the highway from the east end of Donner Lake to the state line.

Edmonson Will Serve One Year For Car Death

Reno Printer Sentenced By Court After Making Guilty Plea

Changing his plea in the Sierra county superior court from not guilty to guilty of negligent homicide, brought H. S. Edmondson, Reno linotyper the maximum county jail sentence, but saved him the possiblity of a term in the state prison.

Judge Raymond McIntosh imposed the sentence of one year in the jail on Edmondson, whose trial had been set for this month.

The charge grew out of a collision of cars driven by the Reno printer and Pietro Lombardo of Hobart Mills east of Truckee in Sierra county last month. The accident resulted in the tragic death of Mrs. Frances Lombardo and the serious wounding of her husband.

Witnesses at an inquest held here following the mishap, said Edmondson was driving on the wrong side of the highway and passing another car on the crest of a grade when the collision occured.

Lombardo is recovering from the injuries received in the wreck.

In Truckee the total distribution will be $3,200 to 30 members.

ACCEPT TRUCKEE BID

Schools Here Have Recess For Week During Annual Meet

Word comes from Grass Valley to the effect that the public school teachers of Nevada County have accepted the invitation of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce to hold their 1938 institute in Truckee.

The 1937 institute was held in the eastern Nevada county city Monday, and Tuesday this week with the group taking Wednesday for visitations in others cities including Sacramento, Auburn, Colfax, Yuba City, Marysville and Roseville.

The teachers of the two Truckee schools are in attendance and both schools here recessed for the week.

It has been several years since the teachers' institute was held in this town, but there are a number of teachers who are still instructing in the county who recall with pleasure the sessions held here and the entertainment provided by the Truckee people.

Three Inches Of Moisture Left By Current Storm

Snowfall Here Recorded At Five Inches During Week's Storm

With promises of clear weather for the week end, Truckee is emerging from the first major storm of the season.

Records kept by the Truckee office of the forest service revealed that since last Thursday morning when the storm started, five inches of snow fell. Most of this was disapated in the rain which came on the heels of the snow. Nearly three inches precipation has been recorded since the first of the fiscal year, September 1, Dispatcher Ben Winslow reported.

More than 1.86 inches fell during the 24 hour period ending at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, he said.

From Norden comes the report that more than three feet of snow is on the Donner summit.

While the use of chains has been required, no delay in traffic has resulted. The flanger has keep the tracks of the Southern Pacific open.

Charles Pierce, chairman of the committee in charge, said that even with the bad weather, the post more than paid expenses and at the same time made the annual observance of Armistice Day worth while.

CROSS CURRENTS

The American housewife, mistress of the nation's buying, today finds herself in an embarrassing predicament.

It's the same predicament that tantalizes the harassed politician, turns the heads of economists gray, and makes the wage-earner wonder why his paycheck disappears like butter under the sun. Even one of the country's shrewedest analysts, John T. Flynn, admits that the cross currents of wages and prices, crashing against the beleaguered housewife at market and her husband at work, creates a topsy-turvey pisture today.

Every good housewife wants her husband to get good wages, but she doesn't want it gobbled out of her purse at the market place. At present both things are happening. Wages are advancing, but galloping several strides ahead are the prices.

The politicians, probably trying to unravel this tangled skein, have helped complicate the works with price-fixing regulations. Whatever its value in theory, in practice—where it hurts most—all the regulation has been UP and not down. One big merchandising concern is now in court for refusing to make as big a profit as a price-fixing law orders it to.

Where the dealer was once satisfied to sell an article for 53 cents, a price-rigging law now enables the manufacturer to compel that dealer to sell the same article at 79 cents. The housewife, in her wrath at such political mismanagement, may well pray for relief fromits manipulations.

Out of the confused currents of lagging wages and rising prices, this much plainly emerges: price-fixing to enforce higher prices eventually reduces purchasing. When less is purchased, less is produced, industries slow up, and jobless men again haunt the streets of America. We have had our era of scarcity. Let us work toward an era of abundance.

COOPERATION THAT COUNTS

We may each have our individual opinions on every subject and those opinions may not harmonize with those of our neighbor. They may even be directly and vigorously to the contrary. It would certainly be an unusual condition if we all agreed on every issue presented. It might be noted, however, that where a situation presents itself affecting the welfare of the entire community, we are nearly all pretty much of the same mind, although we may vary on ways or minor details and express ourselves differently.

Of course, there are always exceptions to the rule and unfortunately, Truckee is not unlike other centers in this respect. Thre are always a few who stand opposed to progress in any form. It is a sad thing when this very small majority is permitted to predominate.

Several months ago, the need for new fire fighting equipment in Truckee was pointed out. There were some who believed the old equipment adequate. Others said a new truck at the time was an unwarranted expense and expressed the belief that mor hose-houses and hydrants would suffice. Very few were entirely of the same mind and yet when the issue came to a vote, a majority of more than 40 to one agreed that we should have more protection.

More recently the annual question of winter sports came up for discussion. Again opinions varied. Some said we should have only skiing, others wanted nothing but skating. And, as usual, there were those—that small minority—who wanted the program dropped.

A meeting was called and the thing openly discussed. A decision was reached to continue the program this year and on that score all seemed to agree. The minor details of how the program should be conducted were forgotten in the main issue.

The ability and willingness to cooperate on the major issues, despite personal feelings, is the kind of oooperation that counts and we sincerely feel that regardless of the issue, if it benefits Truckee, we will find the majority pulling together when the time comes.

WHY IT'S SO

"In the country," says Tony Wons, the commentator, "you are all in when you go to bed, but you feel fine in the morning. In the city you feel fine when you go to be, but are all in when you get up."

Be that as it may, we know a good reason justifying the California farmers who awaken with that refreshed feeling--they're decidely outstripping the city dwellers in buying power. And why not? National cash farm income in 1937 will total nine billion—14 per cent more than in 1936.

Politically Speaking

By Jack Welter
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—Although Guard Captian William J. Ryan of Folsom Prison appeared well out in front for appointment as prison warden at the last meeting of the state board of prison directors, it isn't at all certain that he's going to get the job.

In fact, it is possible to find in capitol circles men who profess to have definite knowledge that Clyde L. Plummer, former Los Angeles police captain, is in and that the show's all over but the shouting.

Few people can dispute, incidentally, that there will be a lot of shouting—most of which will be in the direction of Governor Frank F. Merriam—if Plummer gets the job.

Both Frank Sykes and Chairman T. N. Harvey, board members, already have done considerable sharpshooting at the governor because of what they claim is an attempt to deprive Ryan of the job he has earned through service and merit by maneuvering a political trade which will bring him 25,000 votes.

The new warden probably will be named when the board meets at Folsom November 20.

Ryan's friends and those who believe his 26 years' unbroken service, his knowledge of the prison and the heroism which nearly cost his life during the break of September 19 should earn him the promotion are not alone in their stand.

Many prison guards would much rather see their captain in the job. They're definitely afraid appointment of Plummer might cost them their jobs, the theory being that when he took ofifce—or shortly thereafter—he'd fire them and hand out the guard berths to his friends in southern California, if they want them.

This he would be able to do because the warden has absolute jurisdiction over guard personnel.

There are still others who point out that although Plummer has had a long career as a police officer, he has not held a job comparable to the warden's post.

Plummer joined the Los Angeles department in 1909 as patrolman. In 1911, he was promoted to sergeant and was made captain in 1922 after four years as a lieutenant. From 1927 until he reached 20-year retirement eligibility in 1929 he was deputy chief in charge of traffic.

District Attorney Buron Fitts drafted him from retirement to act as the chief of the county's bureau of investigation. Nine months ago he resigned.

Plummer, who is 53 years old as is Ryan, was known as a vice crusader during prohibition days. Frequently he smashed his way into gambling establishments, using a 150-pound anvil as a battering ram.

One raid he purportedly conducted seems certain to turn members of the Catholic faith against his backers. A Catholic publication, commenting on his candidacy for warden recently charged that he once led a party which raided a convent, seeking liquor.

Governor Merriam has denied frequently that he favors any candidate, or that he has sought to influence the warden's selection. His political opponents scoff at his denials, however, and seem certain to make campaign capital of the situation.

The governor found himself in another uncomfortable position when he was called upon to decide the fate of Hugh Smith and Alfred

Air View of the Leipzig Fair

THE airplane view above enables one to look down on part of the largest and oldest industrial exchange in the world. Here are displayed thousands of the newest inventions from twenty-five countries. The great exhibition halls are the largest ever constructed. Some of those shown in the picture are larger than Madison Square Garden in New York. There are, besides, acres of outdoor exhibits of farming and building machinery. Here are displayed over 3,000 examples of the newest machinery and machine tools.

The great exchange is the Leipzig Trade Fair, organized more than 700 years ago and held without interruption ever since. The next Fair will be the 1978th session of this historic exchange. Just 150 years ago, Benjamin Franklin signed the first treaty enabling American merchants to trade at Leipzig.

In the foreground of the photograph will be seen two radio towers, part of a high powered broadcasting station, which keeps the Fair in touch with the entire world. The Fair grounds occupy the site of the famous Battle of the Nations, where Napoleon met his first defeat.

TAHOE WOMEN ARE UNINJURED WHEN CAR IS WRECKED

TAHOE CITY, Lake Tahoe, Nov.18. Troubles, like good luck, usually comes in bunches.

Mrs. Betty Stevens of Tahoe City, who last week received a heartbreaking shock when her husband was arrested and placed in the Nevada county jail, accompanied Mrs. Bliss Hinkle, local school teacher to that city on Thursday to visit him.

Leaving Nevada City around 1:30 a. m., Mrs. Stevens, driving her own coupe, proceeded very slowly and cautiously in second gear down a long steep hill, wet with snow and slush and very slippery. Suddenly without warning, the car skidded from the highway, turned over and rolled down the embankment some 40 or 50 feet. In the path of the car was one lone tree standing at the edge of the cliff which dropped hundreds of feet below. The women had presence of mind enough to turn off the engine as the machine overturned several times on its way down the slope.

Luckily, it struck the tree and held, a miraculous streak of luck which probably saved their lives.

Two men motorists who happened along behind them saw their plight and assisted them from the overturned car, neither injured. They gave them a ride to Auburn where Mrs. Hinkle secured a stage home and Mrs. Stevens had the wrecked car towed in.

The accident occured in about the same spot where a few hours earlier a man was killed and his companion injured.

CHEMISTRY CHURCH TO TEACH HEALTH SPONSORS CLAIM

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—The First Church of Chemistry, in articles of incorporation, announced it proposed to teach "those laws of the spiritual and material life" which lead to prolongation of life.

The Church said it would ordain ministers and conduct an educational program to further its aims. A Burbank delegation requested the charter from the secretary of state.

Tahoe . . . . Ramblings . .

(By SWANEE)

Dr. H. E. Hanes of Fort Dodge, Iowa, who enjoyed a six weeks' vacation in southern California with relatives and friends was a visitor last week in Truckee and Tahoe. An expert masseuse, she was looking over the local conditions and territory and was well impressed with the region and is considering returning in the spring to open a fashionable salon either here or in Reno.

Otto Fox, orchestra leader from Auburn was in town last Saturday to give private lessons and band practice.

Al Luhr, head caretaker at the Flora Knight estate at Emerald Bay, is making extensive improvements at his home on the Riviera which include a fireplace, rock walled and a "love seat".

Archie Scott and Douglas Gaynor will hereafter "make haste more slowly" on cold mornings when ice coats the highway. For on Tuesday of last week they took a curve near the Tallac hatchery on high, lost control of the car and met up with a tree. Windows were broken and plenty of dents received by the car while Scott, who was driving Gaynor's car, suffered a bad cut on the head. He went to Richardson's for aid and was taken to Truckee for treatment. Both were employed at Knights.

John Almquist of Oakland, accompanied by his wife, is now assistant caretaker at Knight's estate.

"Happy" Didsberry, former caretaker at Knight's, is now caretaker at the Rubicon CCC canm where he has the position of construction instructor in the summer.

Mrs. Rupert Bradley and two children and Mrs. Carolyn Wells of Emerald Bay, left last week for their homes, Mrs. Bradley going to Palo Alto to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Handy and Mrs. Wells going to Los Angeles.

Clay Sherman, the husky 6 feet 4-inch giant, who once attempted to swim Tahoe, now finds himself on the crest of a sea—but this time he is not demonstrating his swimming prowess—for it is the sea of matrimony. His friends will be glad to learn that last week he took as his bride a charming southern girl, Miss Louise Kerr of Murfreeboro, Tenn. Following a honeymoon in New York the couple will make their home in Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wallace and daughter of Tahoe City are enjoying a vacation of two weeks in Idaho with relatives of Mr. Wallace.

Other vacationists are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Anderson who left some time ago for the bay region. Mr. Anderson was a member of a hunting party on a trip to Fallon prior to his departure.

Word received from Rose Bennington, sister of Mrs. Mable Oliver former Tahoeite, indicated that Mrs Oliver is resting comfortably in the Baker hospital at Muscatine, Iowa. Although somewhat wearied by her long trip from Oakland, she is looking forward hopefully to speedy recovery in the hands of the famous specialists.

Mr and Mrs. James Frazier and son of Lake Forest are visiting with relatives in the east.

D. M. Brodehl, Tahoe mailman, who resides in the Bettencourt Tract is heartily enjoying a sojourn in tropical Hawaii. He left more than two weeks ago and will be gone at least a month. Joe Henry is performing the duties of mailcarrier during his absence.

Terrific gusts of wind swept the Tahoe region on Wednesday bringing the first real storm of the season which arrived with full fury on Thursday night. Six inches of snow fell on Thursday night, 11 inches at Tahoe City. The temperature dropped to 19 above zero and on Saturday night .38 of an inch of rain fell, causing the snow to melt rapidly.

Power was shut off temporarily as several large trees fell across the wires.

The worse damage of the storm was incurred at the Herbert Fleishhacker estate where a huge tree, nearly 100 feet high, fell straight across one of the guest cottages, cutting the unoccupied building directly in half as through it had been severed by a cleaver. The house and furnishings are believed a total loss. It was one of the oldest dwellings in the lake region and was used by the Fleishhacker family during their occasional visits at the lake in place of opening the big house.

J. E. Pomin, E. H. Pomin and Stanley and Robert Pomin left on Sunday for Gridley where they participated in the opening of the pheasant season there Monday. This is an annual event for the Pomins who annually return home with their quota of the tasty birds.

BENEFIT PARTIES AT TAHOE POPULAR AS FUND ENLARGED

TAHOE CITY, Lake Tahoe, Nov.18. The next dessert bridge party to be staged by the Tahoe Women's club for the benefit of their building fund will be held at the Tahoe Inn on Thursday, November 18 at 1 o'clock.

Hostesses for the occasion are Mrs. Jewell Bechdolt, Mrs. Weller Atherton, Mrs. Marie Henry, Mrs. Eleanor Swanson. Auction and contract will pass the hours following the serving of refreshments and the winners will receive prizes.

The party at the Simmonds home in town last Wednesday, hostessed by Mesdames H. D. Worden, Willis Revel, Irene Duffee and W. A. Simmonds, was well attended and netted the committee an even larger sum than the preceding week, approximately $35 being realized.

A beautiful basket of home-made candy, donated by the club's president, Mrs. Worden brought a tidy $3 and was presented to Mrs. J. C. Lewis.

Truckee women who attended were Mrs. R. P. Bick, Mrs. Edith Fay, and Mrs. Lotta Bryant. Tahoe ladies included Mesdames J. E. Ganow, George Bliss, Minnie Pomin, Jess Sisk, Ethel Vernon, Gerda Kvistberg, William Gough, Amy Stineman, J. C. Lewis, Carl Bechdolt, William Gibson, Ruth Wathen, N. R. Mayfield, Frank Armstrong, Weller Atherton, Lee Garner, Stella Watson, John Pingree, Matt Green, Phoebe Darlin, Van Nessa Prusso, Fred Kilner, Eleanor Swanson, Marie Henry, Gladys Pedersen, Bliss Hinkle and Myrtle Gallinger and Mr. W. A. Simmonds and the Misses Mary Pronzato and Eunice Duffee.

High score for auction was held by Mrs. Kvistberg, low by Mrs. Atherton; high for contract was held by Mrs. Bick and low by Mrs. Bryant. Mrs. Fay won the door prize.

JAMES WILSON IS MARRIED TO AILEEN BOX, SAYS REPORT

TAHOE CITY, Lake Tahoe, Nov.18 An incident which caused a mild sensation at Tahoe last week was the revelation of the marriage of one of the town's most confirmed bachelors, James Wilson, to Mrs Aileen Box of Fresno.

Although friends had long suspected a romance between the two, it was not until after their departure for Oroville for the winter that the announcment was made by letters to friends here. Even then details were lacking.

Mrs. Wilson occupied the former Hursey cottage in Lake Forest during the summer past while Mr Wilson resided near Pomin's Resort

STATE SPENT OVER $5,000 PER MINUTE DURING OCTOBER

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP) Disbursement of funds by California state government broke all records in October, with a total of $50,990,922.86 paid out, Controller Harry B Riley reported.

A "breakdown" of the figures showed the state spent $2,266,512.18 each day, $323,787.45 per hour or $5,396.46 every minute during the month.

"Based on actual working time of ten typists turning out warrants, the state disbursed $89.94 per second in October," Riley said.

This is the season of the year when snow begins to blanket the landscape and our attention is called to the unpardonable and cruel practice which has prevailed for some years past on the part of summer residents who leave pet cats and dogs here to shift for themselves when they return to their city homes It is pitiful to behold these poor creatures traveling from house to house, cold and bedraggled, begging for a morsel of food or a warm corner to sleep in. How folks can heartlessly and delibertaely leave their poor pets to freeze or starve is more than we can fathom. There surely ought to be a law ag'in it. We only hope that at least a small percentage of these poor creatures will find homes with kindly neighbors.

Explanation

Dr. Otto Stuetzel, physician who was accompanying Edward Tenney, wealthy Honoluluan, when the latter disappeared in mid-ocean between Hawaii and Seattle, is shown above as he arrived alone at Seattle. In contrast to reports of suicide, Dr. Stuetzel said young Tenney "fell off the ship."

Beniamino Bufano, the sculptor whose projected stainless steel statue of St. Francis of Assissi, rocked San Francisco art circles, is shown above as he peers around the giant granite head of Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese leader whose statue Bufano has just completed. It will be erected in the Chinese quarter of the city.

SHASTA DAM WILL BE SECOND BIGGEST WHEN COMPLETED

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—The federal government has revised its plan for Shasta dam of the Central Valley Water Project and the structure will be the second largest concrete dam in the world.

It will be more immense than Boulder Dam, stemming the flood waters of the Colorado river, and will be second in size only to the Grand Coulee dam on the Colubbia river in Washington.

Although Boulder dam will remain unchallenged as the world's highest structure of its type, Shasta dam will be more than twice as long across its crest. It will be 3,100 feet long, compared to Boulder's 1,282 feet. Grand Coulee dam, spreading 4,200 feet across the Columbia, is the world's widest.

The northwest's dam also will contain more concrete than any other. The Grand Coulee dam and power houses will require 11,250,000 cubic yards of cement, Shasta will take 5,700,000 cubic yards and Boulder required 4,360,000 cubic yards.

Revised plans for Shasta call for a wall approximately 360 feet high. Behind the dam storage reservoir of 4,500,000 acre feet will range 35 miles or more into the upper Sacramento river canyon 13 miles from Redding. Previously, the dam's storage capacity was set tentatively at 3,000,000 acre feet of water from the Pit, McCloud and Sacramento rivers.

Although it will not be as high as Boulder's 727 feet, it will surpass Grand Coulee's crest of 553 feet.

Revised details of the dam's design were disclosed by Walker R. Young, bureau of reclamation construction engineer for Boulder dam and for the Central Valley Project.

The Chambon dam in France, 450 feet high, is the nearest approach to size to these three western giants, he said. Hetch Hetchy in Yosemite National Park, San Francisco's principal source of water supply, recently heightened to 427 feet is next, with the bureau's Owyhee dam in Eastern Oregon, 417 feet, followed in order.

Concrete to be used in Shasta dam, he said, would build a solid monument a city block square and as high as the Empire State Building in New York City. A freight train more than 200 miles long would be required to haul all the cement and there will be sufficient water in the Shasta reservior to cover the entire city of Chicago to a depth of 35 feet.

Shasta's power plants will generate approximately a billion and a half kilowatt hours each year.

THEFT OF RAILROAD PUZZLE ATTORNEYS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—Orange county authorities puzzled attorneys in the governor's office recently when they requested extradition of a man wanted for the theft of a steam railroad.

Further study revealed the railroad to be a miniature, valued at $650.

YELLOW AND BLACK LICENSE PLATES TO BE ISSUED IN 1938

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—California motorists will sport lemon yellow and black license plates on their cars in 1938.

The state department of motor vehicles decreed a departure from the orange and black combinations which have been used on state license plates since 1929.

The new tags will have black numerals against the yellow background.

STABILIZED LABOR PLAN ADOPTED BY BIG BUSINESS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—A concerted effort by large business interests to stabilize employment and thereby obtain merit rating under terms of the California Unemployment Reserves Act was noted by officials of the Unemployment Commission.

One firm which formerly made a practice of frequent labor turnovers found that by reducing personnel changes it would become eligible for lower contributions to the Reserves fund after 1941, officials said.

Under terms of the act reduction in payments is provided for after that period if an employer maintains his reserve percentages within certain standards.

THIS EMPLOYER IS PESSIMISTIC WITH ANSWERS TO STATE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—A southern California employer who hires four or more persons, and as such is subject to the state unemployment insurance law gave Department of Employment officials a turn recently when he filled out a registeration form in the following fashion:

When did you commence business?
"One day when I went nuts."
From whom did you purchase it?
"A fellow who was smarter'n me."
His address?
"He's left the country."

This Week At The State Capitol

By JOHN ABBOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—A decision by Superior Judge Peter J. Shields, ordering the reinstatement of Thomas J. Carroll by the California Horse Racing Board, won for Norman Church, Los Angeles sportsman, a major phase of his battle with the board.

Caroll, a trainer in the employ of Church, was suspended on charges of doping a Church-owner horse, Proclivity, winner of the fourth race on the last New Year's Day program at Santa Anita track.

Judge Shields ordered the trainer's license restored as well. Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. Cowing, prosecuting the case for the board, said the decision would be appealed.

"At the hearing of tihs proceeding, counsel for the respondent (the board) did not attempt to contend that the words 'for just cause' had no meaning," Judge Shields observed, pointing out a provision of the state racing law specifying licenses shall not be revoked without just cause.

"His contention," Judge Shields continued, "was that if the board had what it thought was a good cause, founded on a one-sided investigation of a charge, that was sufficient ground upon which to convict one who might have been wholly unconscious that any charge had been made against him. This seems to be a crude conception of justice."

It had been Church's allegation, during a long controversy with the racing board, that he had been unable to get fair treatment at their hands. He leveled against Carelton F. Burke, goard chairman, charges of inefficiency and favoritism.

The Carroll case, he alleged, was part of a deliberate plan to discredit the Church stables on California's tracks.

To represent the scholarly little trainer, who hurried around during the hearing assisting the defense in library research, Church retained a legal battery of four prominent lawkers, headed by U. S. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

A strange story of the murder in South America of Harold Bingham, University of California graduate, class of 1906, was related here during the week through one of the dead man's relatives.

No parades and public speeches in celebration of Armistice Day for the football players of Loyola University. Instead they added another upset to the 1937 season by defeating Centenary, of Shreveport, La., 14 to 7, in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. In the picture above, Jack Lyons, whose pass in the last two minutes of play resulted in the winning touchdown, is bucking the line for a small gain.

Bingham, who wrote the Golden Bears' alma mater song, All Hail Blue and Gold, was slain by Modesto Lamarque, a ranch foreman, according to cabled details. The man reportedly sent to Magellan Island, "Devil Island of the Argentine, for 25 years for the crime.

Director of Naturla Resources George D. Nordenholt issued sportsmen a final warning before opening of the 1937 pheasant season that 10 California counties and portions of four others are close this year. Closed counties are Trinity, Amador, Imperial, Nevada, El Dorado, Marin, Plumas, San Diego, San Luis Obispo and Lassen.

Governor Frank F. Merriam invited newspapermen to "draw their own conclusions" regarding a statement in which he admitted his candidacy for re-election.

He said: "I intended that as a facetious remark; you can draw your own conclusions."

The state continued its drive to insure a pure milk supply as four more counties were added to the 22 already designated by the federal government as modified accredited bovine tuberculosis areas. Added to the list were San Joaquin, San Mateo Sutter and Alpine.

Ray L. Riley, member of the state railroad commission and former state controller, disclosed he will run for U. S. Senator. His candidacy has been rumored from time to time but Riley dispelled doubts with the statement: "I will announce formally sometime after the first of the year."

It is understood Riley will not give up his $8,000-a-year post with the commission to make the race against United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, democratic incumbent in California's junior senatorship.

Paine, condemned slayers of Police Chief Elton G. Fish of North Sacramento in 1935.

Law enforcement officers generally and many Sacramento district residents denounced the commutation to life sentences he granted both men. Many persons in the Oakland area, where the youths were well-known however, cheered the decision. It is said that a powerful fraternal group demanded that the youths be spared.

District Attorney Otis D. Babcock of Sacramento county accused the governor of playing politics in upsetting the sentence sustained by the superior court, appellate court and twice by the state supreme court.

Merriam cited recommendations of Attorney General U. S. Webb, eight of the 12 trial jurors and two alternates and other authorities as supporting his action.

A similar situation will be avoided when the Brite brothers, Coke and John, condemned to hang for the slaying of two Siskiyou county deputy sheriffs and a Vallejo navay officer, submit applications for executive clemency. The Brites both were convicted and served burglary terms in Arizona. Their conviction on three counts of murder in Siskiyou county thus makes them "two-time" losers.

Many people insist they were not accorded a fair trial in the mountain town of Yreka, inflamed by shouts of lynch justice. The tritl court refused the mountaineer brothers a change of venue.

Recent revision of the state penal code, adopted by the late legislature, will serve to keep Merriam off the spot in the Brite case.

The law specifies that the governor may not act in the case of "two-time losers" except after the supreme court has made arecommedation in the case.

Thus Merriam must submit the Brite application to the advisory pardon board. If this board favors the Brites, he must submit it to the state supreme court. If the board is unfavorable, he may ask the supreme court for a recomendation or not, as he sees fit.
